Official Visitation.

There was a large turn out of Odd Fellows in the hall of Potomac Lodge on north Columbus street on Saturday night. Potomac and Sarepta Lodges met in joint session to receive the Grand Master of the State, Roland E. Chase, of Clentwood.

The Grand Master was introduced by District Deputy J. T. Watkins, and was received with the honors of the order. James R. Mansfield, Noble Grand, who presided at the meeting, delivered an appropriate speech of welcome. The Lodge then took a recess and all the members were introduced to the Grand Master. Upon resuming the floor the staff conferred the first degree of brotherly love. The work was presented in courtly splendor with fine dramatic effect under the direction of Past Grand W. L. Martin, director of the staff. When the team marched off the floor there was long and continuous applause. Some of the new paraphernalia recently purchased was worn on the occasion for the first time.

The Grand Master delivered a fine and elegant address. He complimented the staff on its magnificent rendition of the work, and spoke of the wonderful growth of the order until it is now the largest fraternal organization in the world and still increasing in membership. The order in Virginia is prospering as it has never done before. The theme of his discourse was "Little Things," showing that it was the little things, done for humanity's sake through the three links, that had made the order great. The address is spoken of as one of the best ever delivered in Odd Fellows' Hall.

Remarks were subsequently made by Past Grand Master D. E. Stansbury, Past Grand Bohemian, Sampson, Ward, Latham, Giesendeller, Fair, Bentz, E. Lyles and others.

The meeting adjourned at a late hour, all present being profuse in their expressions of the pleasure they had experienced at the meeting.

Minister Called.

According to announcement, a meeting of the congregation of the Second Presbyterian Church was held yesterday morning for the purpose of calling a pastor for the church, the pulpit of which has been vacant since the first of last January. Elder A. G. Uhler was moderator, and Deacon F. L. Slaymaker secretary. It was unanimously decided to call to the pastorate Rev. Joseph R. Bayler, now pastor of the Third Presbyterian Church at Lynchburg. No other minister was placed in nomination and the call was unanimous. Elders A. G. Uhler and Wm. Campbell and Deacons F. L. Slaymaker and Wm. H. Melchior were appointed a committee to prosecute the call. Mr. Bayler occupied the pulpit of the Second Presbyterian Church a few weeks ago, and the earnestness of his manner and the practical ideas of his sermons brought forth commendation from all his audience.

Thanksgiving Appeal.

The friends of the Alexandria Hospital and the citizens of Alexandria and vicinity are reminded that Thanksgiving Day is the season when the managers look to them for donations of money, groceries, provisions of all kinds, household articles, in short any and everything that can be made useful in such an institution.

The Hospital has, for its constant aim, the furnishing of the best attention to the sick and suffering, at as small an expense as possible, and, if need be, to give this service gratis. Each year a large number of patients are treated gratuitously, but it is only through the hearty cooperation of its many friends that its measure of usefulness has been so large.

A committee of the managers will be in attendance at the Hospital on Thanksgiving Day from 10 a. m. to receive donations.

Railroad Promotions.

It is reported on good authority that on December 1st Master Mechanic W. S. Murrian, of the Spencer shop, will be appointed superintendent of motive power on the Middle and Western Divisions of the Southern Railway. Mr. Murrian has been at Spencer for about two years. He was formerly master mechanic at Alexandria, and was later promoted to the largest shops on the system, at Spencer. Another change mentioned is that Mr. J. Haano, now general master mechanic on the Northern and Eastern divisions, will be made superintendent of motive power of that territory, effective December 1st.

Pistol Shots.

Several pistol shots were heard in the southeastern section of the city early last night. It is supposed that boys were discharging saluting or toy pistols. Those dangerous playthings are still sold in Alexandria, notwithstanding the law which provides a penalty for doing so, and some youngsters have provided themselves with the pistols in advance of Christmas holidays. After several cases of lockjaw have resulted, probably the police will begin to enforce the law. They should do so now and avoid such consequences.

Case Postponed.

The case of John and J. Harvey Robinson, arrested about two weeks ago on suspicion of robbing railroad cars, was to have come up in the Police Court this morning, but, at the instance of Commonwealth's Attorney Bunt, was postponed for nine days. John Robinson was subsequently released on bail in the sum of $2,000, Messrs. J. H. Trimyer and A. B. Travers being his surety. J. Harvey Robinson had previously been released on bail.

Accident to a Lady.

A lady while walking on the east side of Fairfax street, between King and Cameron, yesterday, stepped upon a defective manhole on the pavement and falling partly through it was painfully injured. About a year ago a man was injured by the caving in of the brickwork at the same place.

Threw Brick and Lamp at Rival

Early Saturday night a colored woman named Emma Williams, who had been rendered despondent by her husband, who, it is alleged, has been visiting a woman named Annie Craig, concluded to follow her better half's footsteps when he left the house after supper. She ever that she saw him scale a fence and enter the Craig woman's house on Gibson street. The jealous wife arrived a few minutes later armed with a brick, and knocked at the door. When the woman who had excited her ire opened the door the neglected wife threw the brick at her. The aim was good, and the missile struck the Craig woman on the forehead. The assailant then picked up a lighted coal oil lamp and, after removing the chimney, hurled it at the proprietress of the house. Flames were soon spreading over the room, but they were subdued by neighbors who rushed into the house. Later Officer Bell arrested the Williams woman and this morning she was brought before the Police Court. In her statement this morning she said she was the mother of eleven children, and had often warned the Craig woman against the consequences of allowing her husband in her house. The accused was fined $10.

Yesterday.

Yesterday was a beautiful autumn Sunday and was greatly enjoyed, many persons spending much of the day out of doors. The churches were all well attended. Rev. C. D. Bulla last night delivered the second of a series of sermons to young men before a large audience in the M. E. Church South. The subject was, "Is the Young Man Safe?"—No, If He Keeps Bad Company." A large congregation attended the special vesper services last night at St. Mary's Catholic Church, the third of a special series, under the auspices of the Paulist Fathers. Rev. Father Sullivan, of St. Thomas College, Brookland, D. C., delivered the sermon. His theme was "Charity." Gregorian music was rendered by the male choir.

The Steamer Callahan.

As the disabled ferry steamer Callahan, which has been lying at the Prince street dock for several days past, was being towed up the river Saturday afternoon by the tugboat Bartholdi, the steamer went ashore on the flats near the railroad pier at Sheppard's. The army tug Gibbon, on her way to Washington, came along shortly after the boat went ashore and Capt. Todd sent a line to the Callahan and pulled her into deep water. The steamer was then returned to the Prince street dock where attempts will be made to repair the damage to the rudder.

Missing Man Heard From.

After mourning him as dead during more than 13 years, Mrs. S. E. Perego, of Lynchburg, has heard from her brother, Mr. C. W. Wood, who is now in Orange, N. J., and she expects that he will shortly return to his old home in Orange county, where his mother, Mrs. Elizabeth J. Wood, and a number of other relatives reside. In 1893 Mr. Wood left Alexandria for the west. His last letter was written in a town in Minnesota October 4, 1893. Eight weeks later in that vicinity hunters found the body of a man who resembled Mr. Wood, and it was decided by the family in Virginia that the remains were his. Mr. Wood has written to secure the addresses of his brothers and sisters and adds that in the 13 years he has traveled extensively, has married and is the father of five children. Upon his return home he will learn that since his departure three of his sisters have died.

While a resident of Alexandria for ten years Mr. Wood traveled for the E. J. Miller Company. He was a member of the Alexandria Light Infantry and was well known here at the time of his disappearance. His family in Lynchburg and in Orange county have never known why he left Alexandria, excepting that it was to roam, as he left home when quite a boy and was not heard from for three years, spending that time in Liverpool, England.

E. Clements, his counsel who has almost completed the record in the case. In the meantime the enclosure in which to hang Wright is being erected.

HOLIDAY GOODS.

The Beautiful Garden of Toys.

By the horned pole where old Santa Claus lives.

In his cottage of tully and glass, In the summer his sleigh is well packed away.

And his reindeer are pastured on grass, There the saint tends his cocks and the Saint smokes his pipe.

And leisurely hours he enjoys, Put of mornings he goes with his rakes and his hose.

To the beautiful Garden of Toys.

Oh, the Garden of Toys is well planted with seeds.

Of every plaything that's out; Long rows of tin whistles and horns thick as thistles.

And pop-guns, beginning to sprout, The marbles, too, is just bringing to view.

A crop of delight for the boys As the Saint showers the lot from his watering pot.

In the beautiful Garden of Toys.

In the Garden of Toys grows a curious vine Which bears a great crop of toy drums.

And there you may see the famous Doll-Tree Where the dolls grow as pretty as plums;

For every dolly so smiling and jolly, Each one the Saint tends, seems to police.

Till Santa shall pack all the dolls in his sack From the beautiful Garden of Toys.

In the Garden of Toys, when the autumn arrives And playthings are ripe to the top,

When Santa Claus goes with his rake and his hoe To harvest the wonderful crop,

He digs up the base-balls and shakes down the dolls.

And thousands of men he employs To pile jumping jacks into barrels and packs.

In the beautiful Garden of Toys.

When the Garden of Toys is all covered with snow Then the harvest is taken away.

For it's tingle-ling, ling! and it's jing-a-jing, ling!

As the treasures depart in his sleigh, "Please, where is the Garden?" in every mail.

Please the queries of small girls and boys; But I can't let them know, for they'll all be ho!

To the beautiful Garden of Toys.
